HISTORIC AMERICAN BUILDINGS SURVEY

SAMUEL POLLAK MEAT MARKET

HABS No. PA-5751

Location: 314-16 Broad Street, Cambria City, Johnstown, Cambria County, Pa.

Description: Substantial three-story, commercial brick structure, measuring 24' x 79'. The principal facade has a modern storefront on the first floor with four bays in the upper stories. The windows on the second story are flat-arched and the sills and lintels are incorporated into stone string courses. Segmental-arched windows in the upper story have projecting brick arches. Above the arches are recessed brick panels. Projecting machicolated parapet with panel inscribed "S.C. Pollak 1905".

History: In 1899 Samuel Pollock [sic] bought from Rose B. Mulvehill (nee Keelan) a 25'-front lot on Broad Street, for $2,300. Mulvehill had inherited the lot when her mother, then a widow, and four of her five children died in the flood of May 31, 1889. In April 1905 Samuel Pollak bought the adjacent lot from James Melvin for $5,800. In the same year he erected this building which was used as offices and a meat market. It was designed by a prominent local architect, Walter R. Myton (1872-1929).

Paul S. Hornick bought the property from Samuel C. Pollak in October 1921 for $38,000. Hornick had a hardware business there. The building is still owned by the Hornick family and is now a sporting goods store.

Project Information: This report was part of a larger project to document the city of Johnstown, Pennsylvania. The project was undertaken by the Historic American Buildings Survey/Historic American Engineering Record (HABS/HAER), Robert Kapsch, chief, at the request of America's Industrial Heritage Project (AIHP). An overview of history of the city (HABS No. PA-5669) and an overview of the neighborhoods of Cambria City and Minersville (HABS No. PA-5672) provide context for these buildings as well as a comprehensive list of sources. See also additional HABS reports on buildings in the downtown and other neighborhoods.

This report was prepared by Bernadette Goslin in August 1988 under the direction of Alison K. Hoagland, HABS historian, and Kim E. Wallace, the supervisory historian of the project. Goslin's and other project historians' work was published as The Character of a Steel Mill City: Four Historic Neighborhoods of Johnstown, Pennsylvania (Washington, D.C.: HABS/HAER, National Park Service, 1989), edited by Kim E. Wallace. Illustrations in the publication include large format photographs taken by HAER photographer Jet Lowe and 35 mm photographs taken by the project historians.
